“Newforma Document Control is much easier to use than our previous system, not only for our project architects, but our clients, consultants and contractors as well.”

Challenges?

- Manage and issue large volumes of drawings across revisions and project phases.
- Track who got what, and when and how they got it.
- Do all this without compromising or radically altering internal QA/QC processes.

Results?

- Provides full history and archived copy of every issued drawing revision.
- The firm has regularly issued thousands of drawings in a single transfer.
- External contractors, consultants and clients appreciate the simplicity and utility of Newforma Info Exchange as a means of receiving documents.
